Looking for A Few Good Readers...

NCACE is seeking experienced coaches and coaching education professionals to join our cadre of folio reviewer/readers. Training is provided via in person workshops at the National Coaching Conference or the National AAHPERD Conference. This fall, NCACE is expanding reader training to include a webinar environment.

Why join? Readers are the crucial focus of NCACE's efforts by reviewing coaching education programs seeking accreditation. Also, readers who finish one folio review receive a complimentary one year NCACE membership.

If interested, please contact NCACE's Ex. Director, Christopher Hickey for more information via email or phone (978-201-1024).

Last Thoughts

I swear I am still catching up from all the activity at this year's National Coaching Conference which by the way will be held in Indianapolis in 2012. The Conf was excellent and Dave McCann deserves a great deal of thanks for his insight in creating such an event and enticing the speakers who came to share with all. Ranging from Jay Coakley to Laurence Chalip, the topics made you pay attention and take notice of the vital role, no, priceless role coaches play in American society. One nugget of information I learned has continued to give me nightmares--if the current obesity rates in the US do not change, the related health care costs by 2032 will be $850 billion a year. That will certainly bankrupt us and moreover, there will not be enough fit people to serve in the military, police or fire services. Pardon the pun, but that is serious food for thought.
